FAMILY DEVOTIONAL

SEASON of LENT

"...From dust we are made and to dust we shall return..."

On Ash Wednesday we stand before our priest, marked with a cross made from the ashes of last year's palms, and hear these words: from dust we are made, and to dust we shall return.

Lent is a season in our church calendar to think about our dustiness and to meditate on three practices: fasting, prayer, and giving. Generally, it is a time to be simple, a time to reflect, and a time to refrain from indulgence and special treats. We are preparing for Easter. When Easter comes there will be so much to celebrate. We fast, but soon we will feast. (The season of Easter is 50 days long. 10 days longer than Lent!)

Lent, while somber, can be a season to help your family grow more in their knowledge and love of Jesus. As adults, we possess a knowledge of the world and sin and life and death that our children haven't yet fully learned. They need our shepherding to engage in a season that lasts for 40 days—a span of time that is too long for any young one to fully grasp by merely attending church each Sunday. Teaching our children through Lent is like preparing a garden in spring. We need to tend to our children at home to help them connect the dustiness of Ash Wednesday to the Joy of Easter.

Lent begins on Ash Wednesday and ends on Holy Saturday. The 40 days count the days in between those 2 markers, not including Sundays; Sunday remains a feast day.

Why 40 days? This is a great thing to discuss with your children. Which stories in the Bible make you think of 40? (A few examples: The rain lasted for 40 days and 40 nights [Genesis 7:12], the Israelites in the desert for 40 years [Joshua 5:6], and Jesus in the desert for 40 days [Matthew 4:2]). In the Bible the number 40 is associated with times of trial and testing. The 40 days of Lent fits into this narrative we find in the Bible. For our young ones, 40 days may feel like an eternity, so it is important to find a way to mark the time. Our family does this by writing out the numbers 1-40 on butcher paper that is cut to fit our buffet, and each day the kids place a small stone over the next number. I leave a space for Sundays and put a tealight candle on each Sunday space. Sometimes I set other things around the numbers like a vase filled with sticks and dead branches. Then, on Easter morning we put flowers in the vase.

Your family may decide to mark the time in a different way. Here are some other ideas:

- Make a 40-loop paper chain and take one loop off each day
- Make a vine with no leaves on a piece of paper and add a leaf each day with a butterfly at the end to signify Easter
- Put a calendar on the wall and mark off each day
- Use the calendar in the front of the book and just color a box in each day.

Whatever you do, try to have this ready on Ash Wednesday so you are prepared to usher your children through the season.

MARKING the 40 DAYS of LENT

HOW to USE this GUIDE

As a discipline during Lent, consider setting aside a specific time each day to read Scripture, wonder and pray together. It will be a discipline, and like any discipline, it may not be easy.

Each week begins with an “I am” statement from Jesus (“I am the way...”; “I am the bread of life...”), which is the theme for the week, followed by the daily liturgy. The liturgy each week is nearly the same and includes a hymn and scripture. The scripture and Seek & Wonder activities will help you to engage more deeply with that week’s theme. Sundays are celebrated as a feast day with a recipe.

Start with the Daily Liturgy, after that there is a bible passage for each day along with questions for both children and parents. Questions for Children: Lead your kids through an exercise of imagining the scene, making the Scripture come alive through ‘I wonder’ questions. As written in Following Jesus by Sonya M. Stewart: “Wondering together is a way of remaining open to the Holy Spirit, a way of meditating so the story becomes a part of the group’s life. Wondering shapes and deepens our knowledge of God and what God desires of us. This knowing grows out of the children’s experience of God, not from their being told what to believe about God.”

Questions for Parents: Try to imagine the scene also. Ask yourself ‘wonder’ questions. When we use our imagination and try to digest the words on the page, the passage clarifies in our mind and sinks down into our heart. If you have time, read a bit more of the passage to yourself. For each day, there are some prompting questions to help you do this. This is similar to Ignatian Meditation (If interested, read more here: <https://www.soulshpherd.org/ignatian-meditation-guides/>)

SEEK & WONDER

Aside from the Daily Liturgy and Readings, there are the weekly suggestions: Each week the Seek & Wonder section will provide activity ideas, art, poetry, music, or an outing for your family. The purpose of these suggestions is to help connect the idea of who Jesus says he is with real spaces and places. Fasting and feasting suggestions are also included each week. At the beginning of the week try to make a plan for which day your family will get out or create.

Fasting/Giving: “Moses was there with the Lord forty days and forty nights without eating bread or drinking water.” Exodus 34:28. Remember, 40 days is a long time, so fasting week-by-week is a little easier for children. Each week there are suggestions for fasting and giving. If this idea doesn't connect with your family, think of something else for your family give up.

Seeking Art: “In the beginning God created...” Genesis 1:1. Each week there are suggestions for either looking at art, listening to music, or reading (or even possibly memorizing and reciting) a poem. The art chosen is loosely connected to the theme for each week. The hope is that engaging with art adds a layer to the Scripture of the week, so not only are you and your children reading Scripture together, but you are looking for the same themes within the art. You can listen to music and talk about what you hear that makes you think of Jesus. You can read poetry and the words may give you more clues to what Jesus says in the Bible. This multi-sensory approach has the potential to deepen our understanding and appreciation for the Scripture.

Feasting: “Taste and see that the Lord is good...” Psalm 34:8. Sunday is a feast day, even during Lent. As a way to mark Sunday as separate from other days, prepare and enjoy the recipes included for each week. Cooking and baking with children can be both fun and difficult, so use this as a special time to be with your family in a thoughtful way around food. (As a side note for the bread recipe, you may want to prepare the dough on Saturday night so that it can rise overnight and be ready for little hands on Sunday.)

Please note that if you find yourself unable to read the passage or get through the questions every day, that is fine. Monday and Tuesday will carry the strongest connection to the theme, so if you happen to miss Tuesday – Thursday, for example, just go back to Tuesday and read that passage. While I do think the rigor is good for the season of Lent, there is also a reality to family devotionals: sometimes they don't happen when or how we want. Receive grace when you need a break. Even if you do not get to the liturgy and Scripture every day, work on being mindful of the theme during the week. And where possible, invite your children to consider the theme in light of the suggested arts. For when children see art, hear poetry, and listen to music, their senses are engaged, and the themes are enlivened.

It is my hope that these materials will guide your family as you seek and wonder through Lent

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Attend Ash Wednesday service with your kids. Rez will be holding an Ash Wednesday service for children at noon at the Rez house. One of the priests normally makes ashes during the service and there is a brief liturgy for children, this is a great way to experience Ash Wednesday with children.

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

This week, give up driving 1 or 2 days of the week. As you walk use that time to notice the world around you, what do your children stop to look at? What do you focus on as you walk? What is new or changed in your neighborhood?

---

SEEKING ART

Poetry

Read the poem together, or encourage one child to memorize and recite for the family.

This poem is another way to hear and experience Matthew 4. Read and reread the poem, use different voices, emphasize different parts each time.

Does it sound like the same poem every time you read it? What things do you wonder about?

Ask your children what they hear, what they imagine, or what pictures come to their mind. After you have read it a few times wonder together with your children:

I wonder who is talking in this poem?

I wonder what it means to loose the fish?

I wonder who is fed with the fish?

The Calling Of The Disciples by: Lucille Clifton

some Jesus has come on me

i throw down my nets
into the water he walks

i loose the fish
he feeds to cities

and everyone calls me an old name

as i follow out
laughing like God's fool
behind this Jesus

Music

Our Father, Sarah Wilcox

Before listening to Our Father, remind your children that Jesus says He is the Way, Truth, and Life. What is Jesus leading us to? Our Father in heaven. Encourage your children to rest on the floor, or move their bodies if they like. As you listen with your children pray for them that the words of this song and images that come to mind as they listen will be planted in their heart.

WEEK 1: SUNDAY FEAST DAY

FEASTING— ROCKY ROAD BROWNIES

Recipe: Rocky Road Brownies by "Joy the Baker" adapted from Toll House makes 12 to 16 brownies

Ingredients

1 2/3 cup granulated sugar
3/4 cup cocoa powder
3/4 cup butter
2 Tablespoons strong coffee or water
2 large eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 1/3 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup chopped walnuts
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1/4 cup milk chocolate chips (optional)

Instructions

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour a 9 or 10-inch square baking pan. Set aside.

Combine butter and cocoa powder in a small bowl, and place over a pot of simmering water. Make sure that the simmering water does not touch the bottom of the bowl. Add the coffee or water and stir to melt the ingredients.

In a medium sized bowl whisk together the eggs and the sugar. Add the vanilla extract. When the butter and chocolate have melted and come together, slowly stir the chocolate mixture into the sugar mixture.

Add the flour, baking powder and salt. Stir to combine. Fold in the nuts. Pour the batter in the pan, sprinkle with chocolate chips or chocolate chunks. Bake for 18-25 minutes. Remove from the oven and set the oven to broiler. Sprinkle the top of the hot brownies with miniature marshmallows. Once the broiler is heated, place the brownies on an upper shelf close to the broiler heat. Stand there. Don't move. The marshmallows will brown within 1 to 2 minutes. I mean quick. Remove from the oven and let cool to room temperature before cutting.

Use hot running water to clean the knife blade after each slice into the cooled brownie. This should help the marshmallow not stick to the knife blade.

WEEK 2: I AM THE BREAD OF LIFE

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Memorize the Lord's Prayer with your children.

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

This week, give up baked goods. At the end of the week you will make bread together and break the fast.

SEEKING ART

Painting & Sculpture

Enjoy some time at the Smithsonian American Art Museum to see The Gift by Ruth Ellen Weisberg (On the second floor, opposite the Moran Landscapes), and a sculpture on the first floor, Untitled (Woman and Child) by Selma Burke. Encourage your children to stop and see these pieces of art – to slow down and take them in. After they let their eyes explore the painting, ask:

- What do you see in this frame?
- What does this painting/sculpture make you feel?
- What do you think is happening?
- What would you call this painting/sculpture?

After some questions about the painting, remind your child when Jesus says He is the bread of life, He is meeting our most basic needs. These pieces of art are representations of meeting needs. Again ask:

- What strikes you about the art?

- What do you think is being given in these pieces?
- What are your needs as children?
- How do you see Jesus in these pieces?

Poetry

Read the poem together, or encourage one child to memorize and recite for the family.

The Acolyte, while also being a poem about bread, is a description of the process and place of making bread. The idea of baking into bread more than it is, transforming bread beyond itself is like what Jesus was doing when he said I am the bread of life. Jesus takes an everyday food item and makes it more than that- he bakes meaning into the bread. After reading this poem with your children wonder with them about transformation.

The Acolyte

by: Denise Levertov

The large kitchen is almost dark.
Across the plain of even, diffused light, copper pans on the wall and the window geranium
tend separate campfires.
Herbs dangle their Spanish moss from rafters.

At the table, floury hands
kneading dough, feet planted steady on flagstones,
a woman ponders the loaves-to-be.
Yeast and flour, water and salt,
have met in the huge bowl.

It's not the baked and cooled and cut bread she's thinking of,
but the way
the dough rises and has a life of its own,

not the oven she's thinking of
but the way
the sour smell changes to fragrance.

She wants to put a silver rose or a bell of diamonds
into each loaf;
she wants to bake a curse into one loaf;

into another, the words that break evil spells and release transformed heroes into their selves;
she wants to make
bread that is more than bread.

SEEKING ART contd.

Music

Glory Bound, Wailin' Jenny's

Before you listen to Glory Bound, remind your children that Jesus says he is the bread of life. Just as bread fills us up, music can fill us too. As you listen to Glory Bound pay attention to how the music builds into a fuller sound, more instruments, and more voices, more fullness. Listen to this music and rest in the fullness. As you listen, maybe you and your children will remember some of the scripture you read this week, maybe they will want to dance, maybe they will just enjoy the music and sit with you. While you listen to the music ask God to stir up your imagination and your children's imaginations. After you listen to Glory Bound, wonder together with your children:

- I wonder what words you heard in this song?
- I wonder what pictures you thought of when you heard this song?
- I wonder if you feel the fullness in this music?
- I wonder what it is like to feel full of music like when we are full of bread?

As a meditation tool this week, sit or lay in silence and listen to Daily Bread by Sarah Wilcox. This type of meditation is called soaking prayer. Daily Bread, Sarah Wilcox

WEEK 2: SUNDAY FEAST DAY

NO-KNEAD BREAD

Recipe: Jim Lahey's No-Knead Bread

Yields one 1 1/2 pound loaf

Ingredients

3 cups all-purpose or bread flour, more for dusting

¼ teaspoon instant yeast

1¼ teaspoons salt

Cornmeal or wheat bran as needed.

Instructions

1. In a large bowl combine flour, yeast and salt. Add 1 5/8 cups water, and stir until blended; dough will be shaggy and sticky. Cover bowl with plastic wrap. Let dough rest at least 12 hours, preferably about 18, at warm room temperature, about 70 degrees.

2. Dough is ready when its surface is dotted with bubbles. Lightly flour a work surface and place dough on it; sprinkle it with a little more flour and fold it over on itself once or twice. Cover loosely with plastic wrap and let rest about 15 minutes.

3. Using just enough flour to keep dough from sticking to work surface or to your fingers, gently and quickly shape dough into a ball. Generously coat a cotton towel (not terry cloth) with flour, wheat bran or cornmeal; put dough seam side down on towel and dust with more flour, bran or cornmeal. Cover with another cotton towel and let rise for about 2 hours. When it is ready, dough will be more than double in size and will not readily spring back when poked with a finger.

4. At least a half-hour before dough is ready, heat oven to 450 degrees. Put a 6- to 8-quart heavy covered pot (cast iron, enamel, Pyrex or ceramic) in oven as it heats. When dough is ready, carefully remove pot from oven. Slide your hand under towel and turn dough over into pot, seam side up; it may look like a mess, but that is O.K. Shake pan once or twice if dough is unevenly distributed; it will straighten out as it bakes. Cover with lid and bake 30 minutes, then remove lid and bake another 15 to 30 minutes, until loaf is beautifully browned. Cool on a rack.

W E E K 3 : I A M T H E G A T E

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Visit one of the large worship spaces in your community like the National Cathedral or the Basilica, both are beautiful open spaces to wander with children. As you walk through the space, talk about which doors and gates are open and which aren't. Wonder together about why. Experience the thresholds; entering a space is sometimes more than just taking a step from one stone to the next.

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

Fast from television and electronic games. Use the extra time to read The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe. Break the television fast by watching The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe on Sunday afternoon.

SEEKING ART

Music

Wood and Nails, The Porter's Gate

Before you listen to the music, remind your children that Jesus says he is the gate, maybe they will remember some of the scripture you read this week, maybe they dance, maybe they will just enjoy the quiet moment to sit with you and listen to music. While you listen to the music ask God to stir up your imagination and your children's imaginations. After you listen to Wood and Nails, wonder together with your children:

SEEKING ART contd.

- I wonder what words you heard in this song?
- I wonder what pictures you thought of when you heard this song?
- I wonder what things Jesus built when he was a carpenter?
- I wonder if gates and doors are made out of wood? Did Jesus ever build a gate?

Other music for the week:

Abiding City, Sandra McCracken

Literature

Read aloud this passage from The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe, by C.S. Lewis. (If you have young children there is also a picture book abridged edition by the same name with illustrations by Tudor Humphries)

This is the first time Lucy finds the entrance to Narnia. The doorway takes Lucy from one world to another world. The author of this book, C.S. Lewis, knew that Jesus says he is the gate, and he was intentional in using that metaphor in this book as a literal passage. Wonder with your children how deep this door is, where does the door start and stop? If you read the whole book, wonder with your children why Lucy could find the door one time but not everyone found it the first time they looked. Maybe spend some time drawing the door, imagining what it looks like and how many steps Lucy has to take from the door of the wardrobe till she entered Narnia.

"Lucy stayed behind because she thought it would be worth while trying the door of the wardrobe, even though she felt almost sure that it would be locked. To her surprise it opened quite easily, and two moth-balls dropped out.

"Looking into the inside, she saw several coats hanging up – mostly long fur coats. There was nothing Lucy liked so much as the smell and fell of fur. She immediately stepped into the wardrobe and got in among the coats and rubbed her face against them, leaving the door open, of course, because she knew that it is very foolish to shut oneself into any wardrobe. Soon she went further in and found that there was a second row of coats hanging up behind the first one. It was almost quite dark in there and she kept her arms stretched out in front of her so as not to bump her face into the back of the wardrobe. She took a step further in – then two or three steps – always expecting to feel woodwork against the tops of her fingers. But she could not feel it.

"This must be a simply enormous wardrobe!" thought Lucy, going still further in and pushing the soft folds of the coats aside to make room for her. Then she noticed that there was something crunching under her feet. 'I wonder is that more moth-balls?' she thought, stooping down to feel it with her hands. But instead of feeling the hard, smooth wood of the floor of the wardrobe, she felt something soft and powdery and extremely cold. 'This is very queer,' she said, and went on a step or two further.

"Next moment she found that what was rubbing against her face and hands was no longer soft fur but something hard and rough and even prickly. 'Why, it is just like branches of trees!' Exclaimed Lucy. And then she saw that there was a light ahead of her; not a few inches away where the back of the wardrobe ought to have been, but a long way off. Something cold and soft was falling on her. A moment later she found that she was standing in the middle of a wood at night-time with snow under her feet and snowflakes falling through the air.

"Lucy felt a little frightened, but she felt very inquisitive and excited as well. She looked back over her shoulder and there, between the dark tree-trunks, she could still see the open door-way of the wardrobe and even catch a glimpse of the empty room from which she had set out. (She had, of course, left the door open, for she knew that it is a very silly thing to shut oneself into a wardrobe.)"

SPICY CARAMEL

POPCORN

Recipe: Spicy Caramel Popcorn by Smitten Kitchen
Adapted from The Craft of Baking
Makes 4 quarts

This is a salty, spicy grown-up caramel popcorn — the taste will surprise you if you are expecting traditional caramel popcorn, and may delight you if you were never into the original.

That said, you might want to dial back both the spice and the salt a little, which is why I include the amounts in a range below. For example, DeMasco suggests using 1 1/2 tablespoons of Kosher salt, I used coarse sea salt instead, which is actually a little less salty, and still found the end result to be quite salty. It is harder to advise you on cayenne levels, as the amount you want to use will hinge on two factors: how much heat your jar of cayenne packs and how much heat you like in your food.

The last time you used the suggested amount in a recipe, did it blow the roof of your mouth off, despite the fact that you actually like food with a kick? Mine has, many times, so I measured conservatively.

Want to make a traditional caramel popcorn with no spice or nuts? Just skip the cayenne and peanuts and use only a pinch of salt.

Ingredients

Nonstick cooking spray or vegetable oil
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/2 cup popcorn kernels
2 cups salted peanuts (optional)
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1/4 to 3/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper (see Note)
3 cups sugar
3 tablespoons unsalted butter
1 to 1 1/2 tablespoons kosher or coarse sea salt (see Note)

Instructions

Lightly coat two large, heatproof rubber spatulas, a very large mixing bowl and two large baking sheets with nonstick cooking spray or a thin slick of oil.

In a large saucepan or pot with a lid, heat the oil over medium-high heat. Add the popcorn kernels, cover and keep the saucepan moving until all of the kernels have popped, about 5 minutes. Transfer to the prepared bowl, removing any unpopped kernels. Toss with salted peanuts, if using.

In a small bowl, whisk together the baking soda and cayenne pepper. Have the two large baking sheets ready. In a medium saucepan, combine the sugar, butter, salt and 1/2 cup water. Cook over high heat, without stirring, until the mixture becomes a light golden-yellow caramel, 10 to 14 minutes. Remove from the heat and carefully whisk in the baking-soda mixture (the mixture will bubble up).

Immediately pour the caramel mixture over the popcorn and don't fuss if it doesn't all come out of the pot — you'll have plenty. Working quickly and carefully, use the prepared spatulas to toss the caramel and popcorn together, as if you were tossing a salad, until the popcorn is well coated.

Spread the popcorn onto the baking sheets and quickly separate them into small pieces while still warm. Cool to room temperature, about 15 minutes. Once cool, store in an airtight container for up to two weeks or two minutes, if you've got a family like mine.

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Dine by candlelight for one meal this week, talk about the light. What happens in the room when the lights are out? How does it make you feel? What things do you see differently?

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

Fast from the light; experience darkness this week. Keep lights off in your home till 5:30pm and turn lights off by 7:30 pm. (window of lights on 5:30-7:30, for dinner and dinner clean up) Use the time after 7:30 for quiet conversations with children, spouse, and God.

SEEKING ART

Painting

Enjoy some time at the National Gallery of Art to see and reflect on the painting, The Repentant Magdalene by Georges De La Tour (in Gallery 37). The 'light' in this piece of art is obvious and spectacular. Engage your children on this piece of art. After they let their eyes explore the painting ask some questions:

SEEKING ART contd.

- What do you see in this frame?
- How does this painting make you feel?
- What do you think is happening?
- What would you call this painting?

Remind your children that Jesus says He is the light of the world, in what way does this painting teach us about Jesus?

Be sensitive to your child's attention span, if you are ready for more art, compare this painting with the others in the room. The next gallery (36) has a painting (Landscape with Merchants by Claude Lorraine,) where the light is painted differently. Talk about the differences.

While you are at the NGA be sure to experience Multiverse, the lighted walkway between the East and West Buildings, created by American artist Leo Villareal.

Poetry

Read the poem together, or encourage one child to memorize and recite for the family.

This poem about the light and how it drops, shifts, and changes through these words is a great way for you and your children to think about light and how it affects the things around it. Read and reread the poem slowly and quickly, putting emphasis on different parts, or with different voices. Then wonder together with your children:

Where is the light coming from?

What colors are the light?

Where does the light go?

What pictures come to mind when we read this poem?

Could this light be Jesus?

Ode to Enchanted Light

by: Pablo Neruda

Under the trees light has dropped from the top of the sky, light
like a green
latticework of branches,
shining
on every leaf,
drifting down like clean white sand.

A cicada sends its sawing song
high into the empty air.
The world is a glass overflowing with water.

---

SEEKING ART contd.

Music

The Lark Ascending, Ralph Vaughan Williams

With your children listen to The Lark Ascending, remind your children that Jesus says he is the light and encourage them to listen for the light. At the end of the song, wonder with your children about where they heard the light.

I wonder what instruments make you think of the light?

I wonder what parts of the song feel the lightest to you?

I wonder what stories from the bible you think of when you listen to this song?

I wonder what pictures come to mind when you hear this music?

WEEK 4: SUNDAY FEAST DAY

ROASTED

CHICKEN

with JERUSALEM ARTICHOKE & LEMON

Recipe: Roasted chicken with Jerusalem artichoke & lemon

Serves 4

Ingredients

1 lb Jerusalem artichokes, peeled and cut lengthwise into 6 wedges

3 tbsp freshly squeezed lemon juice

8 skin-on, bone-in chicken thighs

12 banana shallots (or other large shallot) halved lengthwise and then very thinly sliced

1 medium lemon, halved lengthwise and then very thinly sliced

1 tsp. saffron threads

3 ½ tbsp olive oil

2/3 cup cold water

1 ½ tbsp pink peppercorns, lightly crushed

¼ cup fresh thyme leaves

1 cup tarragon leaves, chopped

2 tsp salt

½ tsp freshly ground black pepper

Instructions:

Put the Jerusalem artichokes in a medium saucepan, cover with plenty of water, and add half the lemon juice. Bring to a boil, lower the heat, and simmer for 10 to 20 minutes, until tender but not soft. Drain and leave to cool.

Place the Jerusalem artichokes and all the remaining ingredients, excluding the remaining lemon juice and half of the tarragon, in a large mixing bowl and use your hands to mix everything together well. Cover and leave to marinate in the fridge overnight, or for at least 2 hours.

Preheat the oven to 475°F. Arrange the chicken pieces, skin side up, in the center of a roasting pan and spread the remaining ingredients around the chicken. Roast for 30 minutes. Cover the pan with aluminum foil and cook for a further 15 minutes. At this point, the chicken should be completely cooked. Remove from the oven and add the reserved tarragon and lemon juice. Stir well, taste and add more salt if needed. Serve at once.

WEEK 5: I AM THE GOOD SHEPHERD

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Memorize Psalm 23

Take a nature walk. In DC, Rock Creek Park and the National Arboretum are great places to walk with your kids. As you walk enjoy the quiet but also remind your kids about the sheep and the Good Shepherd.

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

Don't buy anything you don't need this week. Find good toys you no longer use to give to an organization that serves children.

---

SEEKING ART

Painting

Enjoy some time at the National Gallery of Art to see and reflect on the series of paintings by Jean Honoré Fragonard in Gallery 55. These images evoke the green pastures of Psalm 23, and remind me that God delights in our play, brings us to beautiful places, and wants us to dwell with him. Questions for your children:

- What do you see happening in these paintings?
- What would you like to do if you were in these paintings?
- What do you feel when you see these paintings?

Remind them that Jesus says he is the Good Shepherd and He brings us to places like this.

Contrast those paintings with the landscapes found in Gallery 49. These dark paintings might remind us of the valley of the shadow of death and God says He is there with us too.

How/Where do you imagine Jesus to be with us in these paintings?

Poetry

Read the poem together, or encourage one child to memorize and recite for the family.

This poem speaks to the practical nature of taking care of sheep. The beautiful words and images that come to mind add a layer of understanding to Jesus calling himself the good shepherd. Wonder together with your children about taking care of sheep. Wonder about making beautiful poems out of the practical chores we do each day. Take a cue from Wendell Berry's poem and reflect in prayer and gratitude the beauty of an ordinary act.

Sabbath XI

by: Wendell Berry

Though he was ill and in pain, in disobedience to the instruction he would have received if he had asked,
the old man got up from his bed,
dressed, and went to the barn.
The bare branches of winter had emerged through the last leaf-colors of fall, the loveliest of all, browns and yellows delicate and nameless in the gray light and the sifting rain. He put feed in the troughs for eighteen ewe lambs, sent the dog for them, and she brought them. They came eager to their feed, and he who felt their hunger was by their feeding eased.

From no place in the time of present places, within no boundary nameable in human thought,
they had gathered once again,
the shepherd, his sheep, and his dog with all the known and the unknown round about to the heavens' limit.
Was this his stubbornness or bravado?
No. Only an ordinary act of profoundest intimacy in a day that might have been better. Still the world persisted in its beauty, he in his gratitude, and for this he had most earnestly prayed.

Music

House of God Forever, Jon Foreman

Listen to music together, dance or lay down on the ground, ask your children what they hear and feel, or just enjoy. Remind your children that Jesus says He is the good shepherd. This is a lovely meditation on Psalm 23, and listening to this song might help them memorize those verses. Wonder with your children:

- What does this song remind you of?
- What images do you think of when you hear this song?
- What instruments do you hear? What voices do you hear?

Other music to enjoy this week:

WEEK 5: SUNDAY FEAST DAY

OATMEAL CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

Recipe: Mom's One-Bowl Oatmeal Chocolate Chip Cookies
by: "Half Baked Harvest" Tieghan Gerard

Ingredients

2 1/2 cups old fashioned oats
2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup canola oil use a little more if dough seems is too dry
2 large eggs
4 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips or chocolate chunks
+ more if desired

Instructions

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Line a baking sheet with a silpat or parchment paper.

In a large mixing bowl or bowl of a stand mixer add the oatmeal, flour, sugar, brown sugar, baking soda, salt, canola oil, eggs and vanilla, beat until the dough is moist and all the ingredients are combined. The dough will be crumbly. Mix in the chocolate chips.

Using your hands clump together a tablespoon of dough. Use your hands to really squeeze the dough into a ball. If the mixture is not holding add 1 tablespoon more of oil. Place on prepared baking sheet. If your balls are a little crumbly do not worry, they will come together while baking. Repeat with remaining dough.

Bake for 10 -12 minutes or until set and golden. (Don't over bake)

Enjoy a few together on this feast day, then save the rest to give away next week.

W E E K 6 : I A M T H E V I N E

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Find a garden to spend time in: US Botanic Garden, Dumbarton Oaks Garden, Tudor House and Garden, Smithsonian Pollinator Garden. Show your children parts of the plants and talk about the things these plants need to survive. Spend a day cleaning your own yard as a way to prepare for the next season of planting. Sometimes we have to prune and pull to make space for new growth.

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

Fast from the delicious cookies you just made on Sunday; after everyone has 1 (or 2) cookies, pack up the remainder. Give the cookies to neighbors or friends. Feel free to include a note of love or thanks to your friends, share with them that you are fasting and why, or just give them with a smile.

SEEKING ART

Painting

Enjoy an afternoon at the National Gallery of Art to see and reflect on the paintings in the East Gallery, Tower 1, Mezzanine. The Olive Orchard, Vincent Van Gogh. Mountains at Collioure, André Derain. Woman Sitting in a Garden, Pablo Picasso. Flower Garden, Kneeling Woman with Hat, Emil Nolde.

SEEKING ART contd.

Questions for your children:

- What do you see happening in these paintings?
- How are these paintings similar, and how are they different?
- How do you feel when you see these paintings?

Remind them that Jesus says he is the Vine and God is the gardener.

Poetry

Read the poem together, or encourage one child to memorize and recite for the family.

This short poem reflects that when our perspective is about being right, an arguably selfish stance, nothing can grow. What then can grow if we start from a place of love, rooted in Jesus? Wonder together with your children, what do relationships look like when rooted in Jesus? What can grow when rooted in love?

The Place Where We Are Right by: Yehuda Amichai

From the place where we are right
Flowers will never grow
In the spring.
The place where we are right
Is hard and trampled
Like a yard.
But doubts and loves
Dig up the world
Like a mole, a plow.
And a whisper will be heard in the place
Where the ruined
House once stood.

Music

Hymn, Brooke Fraser

Encourage your kids to lay down on the ground with you, hands at your side and palms up, eyes closed, and listen to Hymn by Brooke Fraser. The melody is soothing and the words full of desire to only follow Jesus. Ask God to nourish you and your child's heart, the way a vine would give nourishment to it's branches. Rest in the song, knowing God's desire is for us to remain connected to Him.

PENNE ALLA

VODKA

Recipe: Penne Alla Vodka

Half Baked Harvest Super Simple pg 126

Ingredients

4 table spoons salted butter

2 garlic cloves, minced or grated

½ teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes

½ cup vodka

1 20 oz can crushed tomatoes

½ cup sun dried tomatoes packed in olive oil, drained and chopped

Ksoher salt and freshly ground pepper

¾ cup heavy cream

1 pound box penne

1 cup grated Parmesan cheese plus more for serving

Fresh basil for serving

Instructions

1. In a large saucepan, combine the butter, garlic, and red pepper flakes over medium-low heat. Cook, stirring often, until the butter is melted and the garlic is fragrant, about 5 minutes. Add the vodka and bring to a simmer. Cook until reduced by one-third, 2 to 3 minutes more. Add the crushed tomatoes, sun-dried tomatoes, and a large pinch each of salt and pepper. Simmer the sauce over medium heat until reduced slightly, 10 to 15 minutes. Transfer the sauce to a blender or use an immersion blender to puree the sauce until smooth, 1 minute. Stir in the cream until combined.

2. Meanwhile, bring a large saucepan of salted water to a boil over high heat. Add the penne and cook according to the package directions, until al dente. Drain and add the pasta and Parmesan to the sauce, tossing to combine.

3. To serve traditionally, divide the pasta among plates or bowls. Garnish with basil and Parmesan.

WEEK 7: I AM THE RESURRECTION

ACTIVITY of the WEEK

Attend the Stations of the Cross Friday April 10th from 10 am - 1pm, hosted by Church of the Resurrection at 801 North Carolina Ave SE (DC).

Make a Garden Tomb. As mentioned in the introduction, lent is a long season for kids, lent is less like a desert and more like preparing a garden in spring. Here are detailed instructions on how to make one of these <https://wearethatfamily.com/2012/03/diy-mini-resurrection-garden/>

Easier version for smaller kids/less time:

<http://www.catholicinspired.com/2013/03/calvary-hill-paper-plate-craft.html>

FASTING & ALMSGIVING

Choose 1 or 2 meals this week to fast from meat. Eat a simple meal of beans and rice. Give a meal to someone else, either through an organization (Sunday Lunch Café, DC Central Kitchen) or by offering a meal to a friend who does not have a home or a kitchen.

SEEKING ART

Painting

Spend some time at the National Gallery of Art looking at Salut Tom by Joan Mitchell, it is on view in the East Building, Upper Level – Gallery 407B. Look at the painting close up and far away then sit and rest as you take in the large painting. Engage your children with questions about what they see.

- What do you think this painting should be called?
- What do you think of when you see this painting?
- When you stand back look at the painting with the sculpture in front of it, (Blue Construction by David Smith), how do these interact?
- What type of movement do you see in the sculpture?

Other works in the East Building that struck me as Resurrection pieces:
Beasts of the Sea by Henri Matisse
Gallery EU-403B
Brownie, Sunny, Dave, and Al by Al Loving Gallery EU-406C

Poetry

Read the poem together, or encourage one child to memorize and recite for the family.

This poem paints little vignettes of Jesus coming from death to life. What is it like to come back to life? What do you feel when you hear these words, what do you sense about the resurrection that you have never thought of before? What images come to mind when you read or hear this poem?

Descending Theology: The Resurrection

by: Mary Karr

From the far star points of his pinned extremities,
cold inched in - black ice and squid ink -
till the hung flesh was empty.
Lonely in that void even for pain,
he missed his splintered feet,
the human stare buried in his face.
He ached for two hands made of meat he could reach to the end of.

In the corpse's core, the stone fist of his heart began to bang on the stiff chest's door, and breath spilled back into that battered shape. Now it's your limbs he comes to fill, as warm water shatters at birth, rivering every way.

Music

Nimrod from Enigma Variations, Edward Elgar

Listen to this piece of music with your children, encourage them to respond to the music with their bodies, take note in how they move and when the song is over reflect back to them what you saw. Wonder with them about the music, Holy Week, and the resurrection.

I wonder how this music makes you feel?
I wonder what the Resurrection sounded like?
I wonder why we listened to this song today?

HERB - ROASTED LAMB

Recipe: Herb - Roasted Lamb by Ina Garten

THE BEGINNING OF EASTERTIDE—50 DAYS OF FEASTING

Ingredients

12 large unpeeled garlic cloves, divided
1 tablespoon chopped fresh rosemary leaves
Kosher salt
Freshly ground black pepper
2 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted
1 (6-pound) boneless leg of lamb, trimmed and tied 4 to 5 pounds small unpeeled potatoes (16 to 20 potatoes) 2 tablespoons good olive oil

Instructions

1) Preheat the oven to 450 degrees F. Place oven rack in the lower third of oven.
2) Peel 6 of the cloves of garlic and place them in bowl of a food processor fitted with the steel blade. Add rosemary, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, and butter. Process until garlic and rosemary are finely minced. Thoroughly coat top and sides of the lamb with the rosemary mixture. Place, uncovered in refrigerator and let sit for eight hours or overnight. When ready to proceed, let meat sit at room temperature for one hour.
3) Toss potatoes and remaining unpeeled garlic in a bowl with olive oil and sprinkle with salt. Place in bottom of a large roasting pan. Place lamb on top of the potatoes and roast for 15 minutes at 450 degrees, reduce heat to 325 and continue roasting for 1 to 1-1/2 hours, or until internal temperature of the lamb is 135 degrees (rare) or 145 degrees (medium). Remove from oven and put lamb on a platter. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Allow lamb to rest for about 20 minutes. Slice and serve with the potatoes.

Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

EASTERTIDE

Easter

by: Benjamin Alire Saenz

My mother woke us that Sunday – her voice a bell proclaiming spring. We rose diving into our clothes, newly bought. We took turns standing before mirrors, combing, staring at our new selves. Sinless from forty days of desert, sinless from good confessions, we drove to church in a red pickup, bright and red and waxed for the special occasion. Clean, polished as apples, the yellow-dressed girls in front with Mom and Dad; the boys in back, our hair blowing free in the warming wind. Winter gone away. At Mass, the choir singing loud: ragged notes from ragged angel's voices; ancient hymns sung in crooked Latin. The priest, white robed, raised his palms toward God, opened his mouth in awe: "Alleluia!" The unspoken word of Lent let loose in flight. Alleluia and incense rising, my mother wiping her tears from words she'd heard; my brother and I whispering names of statues lining the walls of the church. Bells ringing, Mass ending, we running to the truck, shiny as shoes going dancing. Dad driving us to see my grandmother. There, at her house, I asked about the new word I'd heard: resurrection. "Death, death," she said, her hands moving downward, "the cross – that is death." And then she laughed: "The dead will rise." Her upturned palms moved skyward as she spoke. "The dead will rise." She moved her hands toward me, wrapped my face with touches, and laughed again. The dead will rise.

DAILY LITURGIES

DAILY LITURGY

We light the candle to remind us of Christ.
Christ has died, Christ is risen, Christ will come again.

Bless the Lord who forgives all our sins.
His mercy endures for ever.

"Yet even now, says the Lord, return to me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping, and with mourning;
rend your hearts and not your clothing."
Joel 2:12

God of all Mercy, you love all that you have made.
You forgive the sins of all who are truly sorry and humbly repent.

Sing Together

*Create in me a clean heart, O God.
And renew a right spirit within me.
Create in me a clean heart, O God.
And renew a right spirit within me.
Cast me not away from thy presence O Lord.
Take not thy holy spirit from me.
Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation,
And renew a right spirit within me*

Parents: Let's quiet our hearts and get ready to listen to God's good words.
(take a Deep Breath as a way to calm everyone)

Read today's scripture and wonder together.
At the end of your wondering blow out the candle and say:

May the bright sadness of Lent prepare our hearts for the joy of Easter

EASTER LITURGY

Alleluia! Christ is risen!
The Lord is Risen indeed! Alleluia!
The light of Christ
Thanks be to God

Collect for Easter Day

Almighty God, who through your only-begotten Son Jesus Christ overcame death and opened to us the gate of everlasting life:
Grant that we, who celebrate with joy the day of the Lord's resurrection, may, by your life-giving Spirit, be delivered from sin and raised from death; through Jesus Christ our Lord who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, on God, now and for ever. Amen.

*"We are Easter people! We stand on resurrection ground. Easter is not only our greatest party...
Easter is the only reason we are here at all! We should meet regularly for Easter parties. We should drink champagne at breakfast. We should renew baptismal vows with splashing water all over the place. And we should sing and dance and blow trumpets and put out banners in the streets. And we should invite the homeless people to parties and we should go around town doing random acts of generosity and celebration. We should be doing things which would make our sober and serious neighbors say, 'What is the meaning of this outrageous party?'"*
- N.T. Wright

Just as you were intentional about setting aside time during Lent to fast and prepare your families hearts for Easter, consider how you might include feasting during the 50 days of Easter. Perhaps your family says the brief Easter liturgy each morning during breakfast, maybe you listen to an Easter playlist. We have additional activity suggestions below.
